

Imagining Other Possibilities for Justice

On moving beyond criminalization as the only response to gender-based violence

Let's start with a question

How do you define justice?

Unjust Justice [Injusta Justicia]
is not respecting the will and the right to self-determination of adolescents.

What type of justice is being served for Jaime?

What is the Feminist Faultlines Group?

What would it mean to move beyond criminal justice as our dominant response to gender based violence?
